2.	Statistical Office of the Republic of Serbia	Abridged approximate mortality tables 018080	Mortality tables provide a systematized, complete picture of population mortality and are the best tool to express statistically the relations existing between mortality, age and sex. Abridged or approximate mortality tables by five-year age groups (n=5) are calculated every year based on the estimated number of inhabitants and vital statistics for that year. The main demographic indicator in mortality tables are the death probability based on which all other biometric functions are calculated: number of persons alive, mean life expectancy, etc. The definitions of the main indicators are: Age x = 0, 1-4, 5-9, ..., 85 and over; - Mortality rates by age (nm <sub>x</sub> ) show the number of deaths per 1000 population by age groups.- Death probability that a person will die before completing the age x+n;The number of aged persons alive of age x ( l <sub>x</sub> ) : shows how many persons out of 100000 simultaneously born alive will stay alive after age x ( x = 0, 1, 5, 10,..., 85 and over); Mean number of the living (nL <sub>x</sub> ) shown the number of persons in an age group. The sum of the mean number of the living (T <sub>x</sub> ) show the total number of all following living age groups; Mean life expectancy shows how many persons of a certain age (0, 1, 5,..., 85 and over) will live on average if, in terms of mortality, there are conditions as at the time of producing mortality tables. 			Integration, implementation of standard operational metadata as well as continuous testing of new technologies and their use.
2.	All responsible producers of official statistics	Services related to administration applications  025231	Planned is the continuation of the work on defining the standards of the procedure of retrieving data from selected administration sources, creation of databases and development of applications for data use in a way that will enable easier access for the services needing those data	Continuous
3.	All responsible producers of official statistics	Technology of information and electronic collaboration systems  025232	Planned is the improvement of the IT infrastructure of the Statistical Office of the Republic of Serbia, consolidated IT solutions for the IT infrastructure. Under the IPA project, the plan is to develop a new website, consolidate metadata, implement ITIL and implement interoperability	Continuous
4.	All responsible producers of official statistics	System of data exchange  025233	It is planned to continue the work on implementing standards in data sharing, both internally and with other organizations according to recommended standards of the international initiative for the development and application of more efficient ways for statistics and metadata sharing (SDMX initiative). To this end it is necessary to define the technical specifications and solution, and to ensure an uniform way of communication, both between applications within the Statistical Office of the Republic of Serbia and the communication with information systems of other government bodies. It is planned to standardize business processes and transactions with constant improvement of servicing services for clients, as well as the development of a web service	Континуирана

9. Information and dissemination

1.	All responsible producers of official statistics	Information and dissemination 025239	Development of dissemination policy dedicated to timely satisfaction of users' needs for high-quality statistical data, meaning that those data should be adapted to their needs. In the forthcoming period the increased accessibility and data quality will improve the visibility of the official statistics as the main source of reliable and timely data. Also, it is necessary to: improve the communication between users and official statistics in view of meeting users' needs; implement new computing technologies (Open Data, etc.) in the process of data dissemination; improve the infrastructure for accessing data without endangering their confidentiality; increase the offer of publicly accessible data for the need of various users; strengthening the cooperation with domestic and foreign data users for better identification of their needs; increase the offer of microdata for the needs of R&D institutions, in line with the procedure for enabling the access to individual data without identifiers for R&D purposes and according to the conditions defined within the European Statistical System, and raise users' awareness about the possibilities and limitations of the official statistics.
